White Construction Group Completes Fire Station No. 8 in Colorado Springs

CASTLE ROCK, Colo., Jan. 22, 2008 –White Construction Group, a Colorado-based commercial general construction firm, recently completed Fire Station No. 8 in southeast Colorado Springs.

Located at 3737 Airport Road, just east of the old station, the project consists of a 12,595 sq-ft. new building with three apparatus bays, sleeping quarters, a large kitchen, dayroom, dispatch center, weight room, and a community room. This building replaces the current Fire Station No. 8 that was built in 1966 and is one of the busiest fire stations in the state of Colorado. In a ribbon cutting ceremony Jan. 17th that entailed a heavy-duty chain and the jaws-of-life, Fire Station No. 8 in southwest Colorado Springs officially opened for business.

The project manager was Doug Decker; project superintendent was Bill Davis; and the project coordinator was Suzie Thayer. Project partners include:

Owner: City of Colorado Springs, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Architect: HB & A, Colorado Springs, Colo.
