White Construction Group Awarded Crook's Palace Project

CASTLE ROCK, Colo., Aug. 22, 2005 – White Construction Group, a Colorado-based construction firm specializing in commercial construction, design-build, historic restorations and tenant improvement projects, has been awarded the Crook's Palace project. Steve DeThomas will serve as project manager and Alex Lee will serve as project superintendent.

The project involves the historic preservation of the 1,489-square-foot Crook's Palace historic saloon located in Black Hawk, Colo. - reportedly the oldest bar in Colorado. Restoration work includes masonry, interior and exterior woodwork, and decorative painting. Additional work includes demolition of the 2,029-square-foot, non-historic addition and construction of a 3,127-square-foot restaurant and kitchen addition. The buildings are designed with brick veneer, stone trim, wood flooring, and tin ceilings to replicate a historic vernacular. The project is valued at $2.5 million and will be completed in February 2006.

Project partners include:

- Client: City of Black Hawk, Colo.
- Architect: PEH Architects, Boulder, Colo.
