White Construction Group Receives STEP Award

CASTLE ROCK, Colo., Aug. 22, 2008 –White Construction Group, a Colorado-based commercial general construction firm, received the Platinum STEP Award by the Associated Builders and Contractors, Inc.

STEP, Safety Training and Evaluation Process, is a contractor-developed program that provides an objective method to analyze and help improve safety and loss prevention programs. To receive the Platinum award a company must have a total recordable incident rate that is at least 25% below the industry average in at least one of the past three years and is measured against similar sized companies who perform similar work.

“We’re pleased to be recognized again for our safety operations at White Construction Group,” said Jason Maxwell, General Superintendent/Safety Manager. “We hold ourselves to the highest industry standards by investing in safety consultants, equipment and education resulting in safe and productive jobsites.”
